Breakthrough Technology That Works For You

ReportsPro places the very latest development technology at your fingertips. Utilizing MIND technology, a spreadsheet cell is infused with an all-important capability it has previously lacked: the power to intelligently retrieve actual data from your database.

Essentially, ReportsPro's MIND technology has successfully bred the ever popular spreadsheet format with the power of a database for your benefit at the heart of each and every spreadsheet cell.

For you, this means that instead of tracking numbers by manually entering and re-entering data and constructing complex spreadsheet formulas, MIND empowers you to have data automatically populated in a particular cell.

Behaving in this respect like a database, the cell tracks the data automatically, no matter what changes occur in the report. And while MIND provides the cell abilities only a true database can, users simultaneously retain that spreadsheet look, feel, and functionality with which they're intimately familiar.

Imagine how much time you'll save with ReportsPro... not to mention you'll gain more flexibility, greater accuracy, and the ability to get managers the critical information they need quickly.
